PATHWAYS SCHOOL, GURGAON

Pathways School, Gurgaon, hosted its 5th Interschool Robotics festival, 'Robongiers'. This year, a total of 18 teams from 11 different schools took part in the event including Scottish High International School, Gurugram, Indian Public School, Dehradun, Manav Rachna International School, Gurugram, Pathways World School Aravali, Pathways School, Noida; The Shri Ram School, Gurugram and Pathways School Gurgaon. To celebrate the newly incorporated Art component and moving away from STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) to STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics), the participants did a paint balloon activity where the balloons filled with colors were burst on a white screen and magically the hidden word 'Robongiers' appeared. After the power packed art activity, the School Director, Capt. Rohit Sen Bajaj addressed the gathering and shared his words of encouragement. This year instead of traditional lamp lighting, all participants were handed electronic LED badges, which they switched on in a darkened room.

AMITY INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL, SECTOR 46,

Amity International School, Sector 46, Gurugram, participated in the 8th edition of the Annual Yuva Vichar Manch, held at Amity International, Mayur Vihar, which gave an opportunity to all the student community to come forth, shine and test their knowledge with peers. There were total nine schools which participated in the event. It was a two-day programme where the vibrant speakers voiced their opinion on the prevalent issues. The various topics of discussion at the enthralling session were—how technology inputs will solve the problem of sanitation, whether desalination can solve water problem, innovation is need based or dream-based, demonetisation is good for economy, post-harvest burning is solution to stubble management and whether gender equality should be reservation-based or performance-based. Principal, Arti Chopra, congratulated all the participants for their performances. Trophies and certificates were given to the winners.
